

I believe this country was built on freedom and I think limiting competition from a new and competitive service is not the way this country was built.
Kenneth Guirley